Support Black-Owned Business

Since 1976, February has been celebrated as Black History Month. At the Co-op, we mark this important time by sharing and honoring the contributions of the Black community to our food systems and beyond. Throughout the month, we'll be highlighting some of the Black entrepreneurs and businesses you can find at the Co-op.

Our first spotlight shines on Derrick Samuels and his business, Genuine Jamaican. Ask around, and you'll be hard-pressed to find someone who's seen Derrick without a smile on his face. Derrick is proud to provide authentic Jamaican food and flavor to our corner of the globe; he has been a Barnet, VT resident with his wife, Shellie, for 35 years. Seasonally, you'll find him serving up full prepared meals at the Caledonia Farmers Market (St. J, VT), but his rubs and marinades are available at the Littleton Co-op year-round. Read More:

FRESH, NEW, & FUN

Spread Some Love

If you need some V Day inspiration, make sure to check out both of our seasonal displays, in front of the Cafe and the Bulk Department. A token of affection can be as small as a bar of chocolate and a sentimental card, or a dinner prepared with only the best ingredients you found at the Co-op.

Keep an eye out for an influx of flower bouquets in the coming weeks! We also have assorted green plants in Produce if you want a longer-lasting gift.

Spa-Quality Gifts

Winter is stressful! You deserve to relax. Fortunately, we have an assortment of gifts from Lavender Fields at Pumpkin Blossom Farm in Warner, NH, including: sachets, refresh powder, roll-on scents, simple syrup (great for cocktails and mocktails), and even scented hair scrunchies! Find all of their products on the seasonal display in front of the Bulk Department.

Locally Roasted

New to the Bulk Department: five blends of Monte Alto single-origin coffee out of Plymouth, NH. Each bean is shade-grown and hand-picked from Peru to be directly traded to this family-run roastery just south of the notch. Currently dispensing: regular, breakfast, Catui, espresso, and Geisha.

Bee Mine

Our friends at White Mountain Apiary have come up with a new gift calendar, for Valentines Day! Their Christmas calendars sold out in just a few days, so we expect these to fly fast! Each gift set features a local honey or bee product. Because who wants a gift that only lasts for one day?! Find the gift boxes in the Seasonal display near the Cafe.

YOUR CO-OP COMMUNITY

Meet Our February Partner

Round up at the register in February to support the Franconia Children's Backpack Program!

Most students from low-income families can count on regular meals via the school's free and reduced-price meals program. However, many of these kids go home on Friday afternoon and have very little to eat until Monday morning. Working with school counselors and nurses, the Backpack Program delivers breakfast, dinner and snack items to over sixty children in Lisbon, Bethlehem, Landaff, and Littleton.

Teachers say that weekend nourishment greatly improves school performance, and hunger doesn't take the weekend off. Round up for local kids the next time you shop!
